

SHABBAT SALON

An Afternoon with Dr. Judea Pearl Jewish Pride in the Post-9/11 Era

In 2002 the world was shocked when journalist Daniel Pearl was murdered by terrorists in Pakistan. Since then, his family has sought to address the root causes of this tragedy by confronting the hatred that took Daniel's life.

Daniel's belief in tolerance and respect for people of all faiths and cultures shaped his work and character. In this very special salon, Dr. Judea Pearl will discuss the promotion of education through open dialogue, how people from all backgrounds have continued to unite by Daniel's legacy, and what Daniel's last words: "I am Jewish" mean to Jewish youngsters in the post 9/11 era.

Judea Pearl is a UCLA professor of Computer Science and president of the Daniel Pearl Foundation. The foundation's mission is to promote cross-cultural understanding through journalism, music, and innovative communications. In 2004 he and his wife Ruth co-edited I am Jewish: Personal Reflections Inspired by the Last Words of Daniel Pearl, a collection of essays by Jews around the world on what it means to be Jewish. Judea also is co-founder of the Daniel Pearl Dialogue for Muslim-Jewish Understanding.
